

Morir Soñando

NIBBLEDISH CONTRIBUTOR

Ingredients

- 2 cups orange juice (fresh squeezed or bottled)
- 1/4 cup of sugar (or 1/2 cup pineapple juice if you like)
- 4 cups of evaporated milk
- 2 cup crushed ice
- Juice from 2 large limes (can be substituted for green lemons or oranges)

Instructions

Morir Soñando, "To die while dreaming", literally translated, could not have a more sinister name. The ominous moniker notwithstanding, this is an awfully popular beverage in the Dominican Republic.

Step 1: To make this beverage, simply pitch all the ingredients in a blender and give it a few quick shots on high.

Step 2: Pour and serve! Don't forget to garnish the glass with fresh fruit. This is the ideal drink on Cinco Di Mayo, for the designated driver.
