

Oyako Donburi

NIBBLEDISH CONTRIBUTOR

Ingredients

1/2 medium onion (sliced)

1/2 chicken breast (sliced)

1 strip bacon (cooked and crumbled)

1 tbsp vegetable oil

1 green onion (diced)

1 or 2 cups of cooked rice

1 tbsp soy sauce

1 tsp rice vinegar

1 tsp chili sauce with garlic

1 tsp salt

1 tsp sugar

3/4 cup water

2 eggs (slightly beaten)

Instructions

This is my version of Oyako Donburi that I made with ingredients that I had on hand. I could eat this every day! This recipe makes 1 serving.

- 1. First of all get the rice going since it takes a while to cook.
- 2. Heat skillet over meduim-low heat and add the vegetable oil. Place sliced onions in skillet in a single layer and put chicken strips on top pf the onion. Do not mix or stir anything. Let that cook until the onions caramelize.
- 3. Mix together the soy sauce, rice vinegar, chili sauce, salt, sugar and water and pour over the chicken and onions. It should just cover the chicken. Let that

- cook (not stiring anything) until the sauce it reduced by half and making sure the chicken is cook fully.
- 4. Sprinkle the bacon over the top and add the beaten eggs. Cook until the eggs start to set.
- 5. Serve over rice and garnish with the green onions.
